

Subject: Re: Productivity Solutions Pack for WordPerfect 6.0 for DOS

From: Steven Callihan <onewebave@callihan.com>

Date: 2/27/2025, 9:50 AM

To: Tim Garner <tgarnerca@yahoo.com>

Hi Tim,

Yes, I'm the author. You or Dr. Edward Mendelson can share it however you wish - as far as I am concerned, it is effectively freeware. There was only one version.

Best,

Steven E. Callihan

On 2/25/2025 11:23 AM, Tim Garner wrote:

Hello Mr. Callihan,

I'm writing to inquire whether you are the author of the above-mentioned software, published as shareware under Salmon Bay Software. I have found version 1A of the software from 1995.

If so, I wonder if you would be willing to donate this or any updated package to the surprisingly still thriving WPDOS community via posting to Dr. Edward Mendelson's website, called WordPerfect for DOS Updated. The package would not be monetized in any way; simply shared with those who still use WPDOS. (Dr. Mendelson's site concentrates on versions WP 5.1 and WP 6.x.)

This link will take you to Dr. M.'s page of third-party shareware, where you will see my name and links to the compilations that I have found through online research and access to the old WordPerfect Magazine CDs. (<https://mendelson.org/wpdos/tools.html>)

Many thanks in advance,
Tim Garner
San Diego, CA